FURTHER REVISION OF TAX, DOWNWARD, PLAN OF HARDING
ABOLITION OF EXEMPT SECURITIES SOUGHT BY PRESIDENT.
WILL PUSH ISSUE
Sales Tax Is Possibility; Bonus Problem Coming Up Again for Settlement.

Flamingo Hotel, Miami Beach, Fla.—At a time when the American people are making out their income tax returns for this year and paying the first quarterly installment, there comes from the presidential campaign the hint that another effort to revise the tax laws of America downward is as inevitable as the next presidential campaign itself. President Harding stands committed to such a course. He is not satisfied with the present revenue laws and the only opportunity he will have before the 1924 campaign to suggest a program of change will be in the December session of congress this year. Mr. Harding's last comment on the present revenue act was expressed in an address to both houses of congress in which he said:

"It would suggest itself to me if I expressed complete accord with every expression recorded in your roll calls, but we are all agreed about the difficulties and the inevitable divergence of opinion in seeking the reduction, amelioration and readjustment of the tax laws. I am not a tax expert, but other problems are solved. I shall make some recommendations about renewed consideration of our tax program."

Will Be on Defensive
Mr. Harding goes before the people next year. Shall he put the whole question of taxes up to the electorate?

STORM AREA FROM TEXAS TO CANADA
Chicago.—The midwestern storm now extends from the lower Missouri valley to the Great Lakes. It was announced Thursday by the weather bureau, with attendant precipitation covering most of the central and valley sections as far west as the Rockies. Considerable snow is reported, the bureau announced, especially in Nebraska and Iowa. The slight rise in temperature Thursday will give way to freezing or lower temperatures Friday, with strong winds, probably of gale force, to follow the cessation of rain and snow.

GOVERNMENT MINE CONTROL BILL ADOPTED

Boara Puts C. K. on Pat Slein in Clubbing Case

Patrick Slein, Janesville police officer, was retained on the force by the police and fire commission after a two hour public hearing at the city hall Wednesday night. The commission decided that charges made by Robert W. Wilson of a brutal assault on his son, Frank, early on the morning of Feb. 24, had not been sustained.

The decision was announced by George G. Sutherland, president of the commission, after long deliberation. It was unanimously agreed upon by the five commissioners. Mr. Sutherland said. The board is composed of Geo. G. Sutherland, T. P. Burns, M. O. Mount, J. E. Francis and P. G. D. Vande. The hearing was held in the municipal court room before an audience of 35, one of whom was Mayor T. M. Welch.

It was claimed by young Wilson, and two witnesses who corroborated his testimony, that Slein came into the White House Lumber Co. on Academy street about 2 a. m. Feb. 24 and, without a word, hit Wilson over the head, practically knocking him out and leaving a scar on his ear which he will carry to his grave.

Slein was represented by Attorney E. D. McGowan, who made an eloquent plea at the close of testimony for the officer's vindication and requested for the commission the withdrawal of the strike by John Hagan and other famous Janesville police officers, declaring that they had the approval of the public and that the man with moral courage and sound judgment who has lived in Janesville knows about the roystering and.

Final Bill of Cullen in Dispute; Board May Ask Penalty of $100 Per Day

Spending all of its three-hour session Wednesday night, the board of final payment to J. P. Cullen and Son, general contractors for the new high school building, the board Thursday adjourned again until 7:30 Thursday night, when it hoped to reach a decision. The final bill of Mr. Cullen's had been presented some weeks ago, was studied by the architect, J. J. Van Ryn, until the time the meeting started, and a statement was made by him as to what claims of Mr. Cullen's were good, and what ones should not be allowed.

He recommended that the board pay the general contractor some $74,927 instead of more than $68,000 which he claims. A most detailed report was given, showing the amount claimed by the contractor in each instance and then the cost of that work as figured by the architects. Most of it was for extra work which did not come under the provisions of the contract.

Extra Work Involved
For extra work done, and material, notably cross-beams not called for in the specifications, an additional amount of $10,000 and some rail catches on doors, exit, including changing of ceiling frame, corridor windows and a terrace floor elevation. Cullen claimed some $7,600; the architects claimed $1,000, and the board a possible $2,000 extra for a 20 percent profit, but with a deduction of $2,000 for Cullen's claim of a secretary's office, teacher's rest room, and supervisor's room in the administrative section of the building.

For the gymnasium portion of the building, which there was no extra work, $3,937 should be paid Mr. Van Ryn recommended, while the general contractor claims $6,486. The board decided to pay the contractor the contract was made, and the contractor firm now asks $1,312 for the work and material on this. Van Ryn recommended that the board pay a reasonable sum for it. The total of other charges, in which there are many miscellaneous items, is claimed.

RADIO LOCATES TWO MISSING YOUTHS IN LESS THAN AN HOUR
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Omaha.—Radio, it was learned Thursday, turned the trick of locating two missing school boys, in less than one hour.

D. E. Guiney, father of Chester Guiney, 11, who with his friend, Paul Schuetz, 12, disappeared Saturday morning, had the description of the two boys broadcast Wednesday from the Grain Exchange radio station.

In less than an hour the father got a telephone call from an Omaha radio fan who had received the description, saying boys answering the description were seen that day on a downtown street corner selling papers.

The father hastened to the spot and found his son.

WET FORCES WIN COUNTER ATTACK IN ASSEMBLY VOTE

OBTAIN RECONSIDERATION OF BALLOT ON MARK MEASURE.
BILL GOES OVER
Amendment Would Permit Bars in Saloons, But Not Screens and Blinds.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison.—The wet forces in the Wisconsin assembly Thursday made a successful counter to recent dry victories by obtaining reconsideration of the vote on which the Mark bill, removing restrictions from saloons, was indefinitely postponed last week.

After reconsideration Assemblyman Herman Sachtlein, Madison, offered a substitute amendment and the measure went over under the rules to the next calendar day. This amendment permits the return of bars to Wisconsin saloons, but retains the restriction against screens and blinds.

The wets were unwilling to stand for return of all saloon appointments and in order to muster enough border votes to get passage of their measure, have compromised on an amendment to the Severeon law to permit the return of the standing bar.

STORM WILL MAKE OPENING ONLY BRIGHTER

Slushy streets and drab skies will make the downtown business only the brighter for the spring opening Thursday night, and merchants report that they are not unduly worried by the weather which took a sudden turn for the worse Wednesday morning, and covered the sidewalks with slush. They will be well cleared by the time for unveiling of windows at 7:30 Thursday night, when it has no doubt been on hand to see what what in spring styles. The merchants have promised displays more gorgeous than any in recent years.

The unveiling ceremony is Thursday night, the official spring opening in all the stores is Friday, and Saturday.

Music Lures Chicago Woman into Third Secret Marriage

Mrs. Ruth Turner Bishop Martin Higgins.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Chicago.—The Windy city's "cavewoman" Mrs. Ruth Turner Bishop Martin Higgins, once married, is now married a third time.

Mrs. Higgins, who was dubbed the "cavewoman" after her husband, James Wright Martin, recently divorced, had charged that she tried to run over him with her car and falling in this had freed him from her. Now she is the bride of Warren J. Higgins.

Higgins is a musician and music as everyone knows "half power" to soothe the savage beast. And now it seems it has the power to hush a cavewoman with marital knots.

Anyway, Mrs. Higgins, nee Ruth Turner and successively Mrs. James Wright Martin and Mrs. Harry S. Bishop, and Higgins are married.

Her first husband, Bishop, was a business man. She divorced him. It was a hasty romance, hastily regretted.

Then six months later, Jan. 7, 1920, she and James Wright Martin, Loyola football star, met at Crown Point, Ind. Object, matrimony. Successful.

Only a few months later the husky football star was in court. He was seeking an annulment.

She wooed him by force and he wooed her by force and force was the result.

The judge listened and then played the role of peacemaker. Everything went swimmingly for a while.

About a year ago Martin saw his wife riding with Joseph Bartlesley, a real estate man. He called to them. In answer the bullets came in his general direction. Thanks to his football training he succeeded in dodging the tender missiles.

Mrs. Higgins was indicted for assault with intent to kill but never was tried except in the divorce court, and there Martin scored a touchdown.

Mrs. Higgins and her musician husband now are honeymooning through the west.

MEDICAL EXPERTS FRENCH SENTRIES CALLED TO STAND KILL 3 GERMANS

2 Milwaukee Doctors Testify in $15,000 Malpractice Case.
Trial of the $15,000 malpractice suit of Mrs. Helen Krueger, Beloit, against Dr. J. Clyde Smith and Dr. T. F. Shinnick, Beloit, being held before a jury in the Rock county circuit court, went into its third day, Thursday, with Drs. Arthur Beer and Samuel Higgins, testifying as experts for the plaintiff as to what would be considered good practice in matters relative to this case. Probability is that the case will go over to Friday as the plaintiff did not conclude until the afternoon session.

Cross-examination of Dr. Beer was concluded after court convened. Thursday morning, with attorneys attempting to bring out the lack of qualifications of the Milwaukee physician to qualify as an expert.

Dr. Higgins qualified.

Much of the same ground covered in Dr. Beer's testimony on direct examination.

Wets, Beaten in Attempt to Repeal Enforcement, Bank on Search Measure

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison.—Defeated in their attempt to repeal the Severeon prohibition enforcement statute, the wets in the legislature now plan to concentrate their support behind the Sachtlein bill, which would amend the state liquor law to prohibit search of homes except on warrants based on absolute knowledge of the manufacture of intoxicants for sale. Protection for home brewers is afforded by the Sachtlein proposal.

While a unanimous decision was reached at the last general wet caucus to push the Tucker bill for complete repeal of the Severeon law, the anti-prohibition forces broke on the measure when it came to a vote. Defections from their ranks brought about a defeat of the proposal by a seven vote margin.

Issue in Doubt
This indicates a large dry strength in the lower house than was anticipated, but it does not insure defeat of the Sachtlein bill, now being favored as the main wet measure.

Assemblyman Herman Sachtlein, Madison, its author, claims that he is assured of a majority in the assembly and expects that he can squeeze his bill through the closely divided senate.

Prohibition advocates are particularly wary with any measure that has to do with the search and seizure section of the state enforcement statute. They assert that passage of the measure would be a blow to their cause.

Gas Explosion in Institution Cause of Tragic Blaze

(By Associated Press)
Angelica, N. Y.—Seven women and two men perished when the Alleghany county almshouse on the outskirts of this village was burned early Thursday. The fire started from a gas explosion in the basement of the two-story wooden structure where 24 women patients were quarantined, and quickly spread to the administration building. The building where the women were housed, a concrete structure where the 23 men inmates were housed, Charles Sachtlein, head stablesman at the institution, lost his life in an effort to rescue the women.

The night fireman, whose name has not been learned, was killed by the explosion.

Six women were cremated in their beds and another was killed when she leaped from the upper window of the burning building.

The structure was built 45 years ago. The right wing burned five years ago and a concrete addition then was erected. This resisted the fire but the rest of the long structure burned to the ground.

ROAD BLOCKADE GROWS WORSE AS MORE SNOW FALLS

5-INCH FALL, THURSDAY, BRINGS TOTAL TO 21 INCHES.
STREET CARS RUN
First Interurban Service Since Sunday Begun—Highways Tied Up.

Blocking rural highways, and making bus traffic and some country mail deliveries impossible, 5 1/2 additional inches of snow fell here Wednesday night and Thursday.

The total snowfall here for the week has been 21 1/2 inches.

While the present storm had more of the effects of a blizzard, with drier snow and more drifting at the start, its effects so far have not been bad. As the snow continued to fall, accompanied by a temperature of 34 degrees, it became heavier and turned to rain at 1 p. m.

First Interurban Leaves
Partial street car and interurban service was resumed here Thursday. Electric power for operation of these lines was re-established at 5 a. m. Thursday and the first car to come through on the interurban from Rockford was a snow plow shortly before noon. The regular schedule will be maintained until Friday, the first car to leave here for Rockford since Sunday night departed at 12:55 p. m. Thursday. Progress of the car was slow, and it was not known at the local office, all telephone connections being broken. The latest fall of snow has not interfered with operation.

Main and Franklin street trolleys were expected to start running Thursday afternoon. Superintendent Charles Murray had a large gang of men at work clearing the snow from the tracks.

HEIDER BOOT SHOP CLOSED, REOPENED

The Heider Boot Shop, 212 W. Milwaukee street, was closed by Sheriff Fred Beale Wednesday afternoon, on an execution of judgment on cognovit granted by Judge George Grimm and held by the sheriff, and the savings bank, through liquidating the business of the Bank of Southern Wisconsin. The judgment was for $1,500.

A meeting was held Thursday morning and a proposition made to some of the creditors, represented by L. A. Avery, and it was decided to allow the Heider shop to continue business, pending consideration of the proposition by the creditors, which will take a week or 10 days.

William and Edward Heider are the proprietors.

TOBACCO POOL TO MAKE A PAYMENT

Decision Made to Make Further Distribution of Returns on Crops.

The Northern Wisconsin Co-operative Tobacco Pool announced on Wednesday that the Executive Committee has ordered a further partial distribution on all tobacco delivered to the Pool. With this further payment the Pool will have actually paid to Wisconsin growers of tobacco about $1,000,000.

The Pool has received many millions of pounds of tobacco and the tobacco is coming in just as rapidly as it can be delivered to the buyers.

The Executive Committee recently went over all the affairs of the Pool, including the expense of doing business, and found everything in first class condition. The reports coming from all over the tobacco district are that the farmers are very much pleased with the way the Pool is handling their business and that they realize that the Pool has been of great benefit to the growers of tobacco.

Sell on Quality Basis

Starting without any organization of any kind or nature and with no former experience, the Pool has been able to establish the selling of tobacco on the basis of merit, a thing which has never before been accomplished in Wisconsin.

"At the present time the right of farmers to sell their tobacco on the co-operative basis is being challenged in the Courts. Besides this, there is no reason to believe that from some sources to bring discredit to the Pool and its members with stories which have no foundation whatever. The officers of the Pool have issued a statement to their members to be on the lookout for these attempts to discredit the Pool. For the first year of operation the officers of the Pool feel that that it has made remarkable progress; that it is not in the position of being out of claim that they have developed the marketing of tobacco co-operatively by the farmers of Wisconsin much better than any other could have reasonably expected in the short time the Pool has been in operation," reports the Pool directors.

"The farmers who have delivered their tobacco to the Pool the first year will undoubtedly make a special effort the coming year to raise a better grade of tobacco and to take more care in selecting their stock and in the handling of it on the ground and the planting and handling of the crop."

Receive Here Monday

It was announced at the Janesville pool headquarters on Thursday that about 100,000 pounds of stemming stock would be received in Janesville next Monday. There was a delivery in Evansville on Wednesday.

A limited number of southern sorting crops are moving through the state pool, a few crops from Rock county being delivered to be shipped to the East.

Present indications are that practically all the pool crop this year will be sold in the bundle direct to the buyers with little or no effort made to ease the crops. This policy has cut down materially costs and expenses of operation.

Willmann Talks on Love of Nature

That the main thing needed in a successful study of nature is a genuine interest in God's great outdoors, was one of the principal points presented by the Rev. Henry Willmann in a talk to the training school students, Wednesday.

"We find what we look for and if our minds are open to a wide interest and enthusiasm we shall see beautiful things in the most unexpected places," he said.

The speaker told of his early experience in nature study as a boy and his later travels to California and other places where he saw some great natural wonders of America. Father Willmann brought pussy willows, blue trees and other things, butterflies, etc., as examples to illustrate his talk. Its general theme, "God's Great Out of Doors," was unfolded. It was evident the speaker was thoroughly imbued with the true spirit of the genuine love of nature. He told of the newly awakened interest in nature study and stated that more people are now giving attention to it than ever before. The address closed with the thought that all can come "Through Nature to Nature's God."

GOOD ATTENDANCE AT LENTEN MEETINGS

Despite the stormy weather, good attendance has marked the Lenten meetings held thus far at the Carroll Methodist church, a special feature being the singing of a large chorus. The services will be held every day from Monday through next Easter except Saturday night. Motion pictures are shown each night. "The Maker of Men," by the same author as "The Stream of Life" will be shown Tuesday night. Dr. E. F. Case speaks on "Blind Eyes" and Friday night on "Making of a Christian."

What Influenced Lincoln

According to Abraham Lincoln's biographers he had but six books to read in his boyhood, and these he perused over until he was a young man. The very essence of his life was the Bible. The last name his beloved Bible. Numerous quotations and references in his speeches were drawn from it, showing what a marked influence it had upon his mind. Surely his whole life and deeds forcibly exemplified the Bible's teachings.

Lincoln's Bible had no such helpful pages of essays, references and explanatory notes as the modern Bible incorporated in the Big Print Red Letter Bible, nor was his Bible printed in such beautifully clear type. Book-making in those days had not reached the state of perfection which it has attained today, and even if it had, he was too poor to have been able to purchase any but the most simple copy. We can have word pictures of him lying at full length, poring over his books by candlelight. Think, by contrast, what our opportunity is today, and how easy it is to secure the volume he given, to coupon plan, to this paper's readers.

MEDICAL EXPERTS CALLED TO STAND

amination was gone over by Dr. Higgins, associate professor of diseases of the nose and throat at Marquette university medical college and chairman of the division of the Wisconsin medical society. Despite constant objections of the defendants' attorneys, the court ruled that Dr. Higgins was qualified to testify as an expert on what would be considered general good practice in the city of Beloit and Rock county.

Operation on Bleeder Unwise.

Dr. Higgins testified that knowing the circumstances as had been related to him by the case of Kraus, he would say he had hemophilia. He also stated that it is generally not wise to operate on a hemophiliac unless danger to the patient's life from some other disease is immediately impending.

Both tonsils and adenoids were removed by Dr. Smith in operating on Kraus. Dr. Higgins, a Milwaukee physician testified that knowing a patient to be a bad bleeder it is unwise to operate for both, as it increases the danger through enlarging the surgical surface.

"The great danger and fear in a tonsil operation is hemorrhage," said Dr. Higgins.

The witness' general practice in caring for tonsil cases as to preparing them for an operation and caring for them afterward, and examining blood to determine whether a bleed-prone patient was or was not, was also in question. Dr. Higgins testified that he had admitted that many persons call themselves bleeders who are not, but stated that the very statement was sufficient to arouse suspicion to investigate further.

The defense is expected to call Dr. Thomas J. Snodgrass, Janesville, president of the Rock County Medical Society, and several Beloit physicians to testify concerning practice in such cases in Rock county.

Expert's Testimony Protested.

An interesting legal battle developed Wednesday, during the trial of the hemophiliac suit.

The dispute was in the afternoon over the testimony of Dr. Arthur Baer, Milwaukee, a practicing physician and surgeon for 23 years, and formerly a professor at Marquette university. He was called as an expert by the plaintiff but the court ruled that he could not testify as an expert on the practices in Rock county unless he had gained his knowledge through other than personal observation.

He said he had been called as an expert on the medical schools in regard to hemophiliacs, much of which was admitted by the defendant's attorneys in their examination taken several months ago and which was read into the records.

Won't Admit Responsibility.

Another interesting angle of the case is that neither doctor admits responsibility for neglecting Kraus after Smith operated upon him at the hospital for removal of tonsils and adenoids. Smith admitted in his adverse examination it is customary for a surgeon ordinarily to care for a case after the operation, but not any of Shinnick's cases, claiming that the latter had it definitely understood that he cared for the patients before and after the operation.

While not actually blaming Smith, Shinnick testified in the adverse examination that it was generally customary among surgeons to take care

RACE DEVELOPS FOR COUNTY SUP'T

Footlock School Principal Files Papers to Oppose Antisidel.

For the first time in many years, opposition to the re-election of O. D. Antisidel, county superintendent of schools, developed with the filing at the Rock county clerk's office, Wednesday of nomination papers of Gilmore S. Longsholtz, principal of the Footlock school. This was the last day allowed under the law for filing.

Mr. Antisidel's papers were filed, each. Rumors that he was to have opposition have been current for some time.

Mr. Longsholtz came to Footlock recently and has had five years' teaching experience at South Wayne Wisconsin and Pinewell, Ill. His home is in Plattville. He is a graduate of Plattville normal and has studied at the University of Wisconsin.

The papers of Antisidel, Longsholtz for county superintendent and Harry J. Maxfield, for Rock county clerk, are the only papers filed in the county clerk's office.

Grocer Is Loser on Bogus Check

A new wrinkle in the ancient art of passing bad checks has come to light with notification of local police by George Fisher, proprietor of a small grocery at 303 South Franklin street, reported that a woman about 60 years old came into his store in the evening, bought $1.50 worth of groceries and presented a $38.50 check made payable to George Fisher, signed by Blanche Ky & Co., Rockford. She wrote no name on the check but it has been returned to him as being bogus and he is unable to locate the woman.

PUPILS HEAR PLEA FOR RUSSIAN RELIEF

A plea for aid for the starving Russians, and those who will starve, was made to pupils of the high school Thursday morning by the Rev. R. G. Pierson, Baptist church, head of the local committee raising funds for the national driver being made by the Quakers. He told of the many who were without food, how last year's harvest had again disappointed the people, and how the Quakers were present helping, feeding 1,500,000 children daily. School advisors were given envelopes and pupils making contributions will take the money to them.

INDIAN FORD BOX SOCIAL POSTPONED

The box social and motion picture entertainment which was to have been given at Indian Ford hall, Friday night for the benefit of the Quakers, has been postponed on account of the snow storm. It will be held sometime before April 1, if weather and road conditions improve.

Veil and Harem Vanish in Nationalist Regime

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Angora — One of the aims of the Nationalist regime in Turkey is to emancipate the Turkish women who enjoy none of the freedom or privileges accorded other women of the world. The foremost exponents of women's rights in Turkey are Halil Bayazit Hanum, a graduate of the American Girls' college at Constantinople, and Mme. Kemal Pasha, the pretty 19 year old bride of Mustafa Kemal Pasha, who is already known in the United States. Two of her sons are students at Ann Harbor, Mich.

Mrs. Kemal Pasha, when she returned from Angora from Smyrna, was dressed as a man, with riding breeches, high boots, spurs and a cap. Mme. Kemal's advent will modify or greatly curtail the restrictions and obsolete customs provided for the women of Turkey by Mahomet. Mme. Kemal insisted that the rules of conduct and dress prescribed by the stern founder of Mohammedan faith centuries ago are not tenable today and she intends to inject some western customs into Turkish feminine life.

With the growth of the new Turkey, Turkish women gradually are being released from their domestic bondage and now and then are getting a glimpse of real life. They now appear on the streets and in places of entertainment in company. The time honored veil, or yashmak, is disappearing. Turkish girls no longer wear veils and their faces are seen freely. And the modern muslim woman insists that her husband shall have only one wife instead of three or four, as formerly.

WILL INTRODUCE 2 ROAD TAX BILLS

Weight Assessment and Two-Cent Gasoline Tax Are Proposed.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Madison. — Necessary funds for the immediate execution of the highway program of the state highway commission were assured today by action of the assembly in concurring in the senate $1,500,000 appropriation bill.

The bill now goes to Governor Blaine, who is certain to approve it. The vote on concurrence was 41 yeas and 10 nays.

In addition to making the appropriation, the bill abolishes the requirement that counties meet appropriations for road purposes made by the state and federal government, and provides that hereafter the entire amount shall be supplied through state and federal allotment on a fifty-fifty basis.

Few Changes Made.

Few changes were made by the committee in the originally drafted bills designed to cover the license fee and the gasoline tax. Before the two measures were approved for introduction with the approval of the governor.

The graduated license fee based upon weight includes a sliding scale of charges ranging from a minimum $10 to $50 on the largest cars. A higher scale for trucks is established with a charge on motor buses of $100 to $200. The measure will raise $8,000,000 annually, to be used in constructing and maintaining 10,000 miles of state trunk highways.

Would Raise $3,000,000.

The proposed gasoline tax established a two-cent tax on each gallon of gasoline sold for use in motor vehicles. This measure would raise over $3,000,000 annually to be distributed to counties for the maintenance of rural highways not apart if the state trunk highway system. Disbursements on the basis of mileage of these county roads.

There will be special opposition in the legislature to the weight tax because of the burden it places on the poor. Committee members express the belief, however, that they can get the measures through the session and have assurance from the governor that he will sign them if passed.

TICKET SALE GOOD FOR HAY SHOW

A report on the sale of tickets for the Hay and Horse Show to be given at the Myers theater April 5, was made at the weekly club meeting Wednesday night at the Y. M. C. A., and shows that one-third of the tickets have already been sold, or arranged to be sold. It is expected there will be a full house. Tickets are 50 and 75 cents and one dollar. They are being sold by club members. "Advance" was the subject for the evening, and the advisory committee held a meeting preceding the weekly supper.

NORTH POLE WANDERS TO NEW LOCATION

London. — The earth is wobbling on its axis, according to Colonel J. J. Jensen. The Danish scientist who returned recently from a decade measuring expeditions into Greenland. He reports that Greenland is moving westward at the rate of 20 yards a year. This seems to confirm the recent reports of surprising climatic changes at the North Pole.

It is now established that there is a periodic shifting of the latitude of the North Pole. The movement is difficult to detect because of the small size of the pole—about the size of a tennis court.

Some authorities say that the poles are gradually changing their positions, and that this alteration to the world's axis will in time mean that regions which are at present too cold will become warm and habitable countries.

The Art of Heckling.

At a street corner in south London a candidate was holding forth from the unit of the "Pole" he said, "I will ask myself one simple question."

"Yes," roared a voice from the crowd, "and a silly answer you'll get."—London Daily Express.

Between Idealism and the Present Truth.

In our own affairs we are generally leaning toward the very practical and measure values with a materialistic yardstick. In foreign affairs we have a group of no mean size in America, that leans to the very extreme in idealism. They have the exaltation of the fanatic and the zealot. Or if they have not, they are making people believe they are idealists, behind which attitude one looks for some selfish motive not directly apparent. The very continued insistence that the League of Nations is the force that can in a moment change all things, race, nature, hatreds, jealousies, entrenched
greed; heal age-old scars and wipe out feuds of centuries; bring peoples from estranged views and selfish interest to the peak of altruism by merely adding the signature of the United States government to the covenant of the League, would seem to point to a most impractical failure to understand that Man cannot bring on millennium.

Fabian Franklin has written an examination of the recent book by Ray Stannard Baker, "Woodrow Wilson and World Settlements"—a work
written from the standpoint of a champion of Mr.
Wilson but which Mr. Franklin calls "a storehouse
of valuable information presented with remarkable fairness." Mr. Franklin himself is also friendly to Mr. Wilson and his review is placed in a periodical, The Independent, more than
friendly, even partisan in behalf of the recent president. Mr. Baker impresses one with the idea that Mr. Wilson was a political prophet of great attainments. Mr. Franklin says we must distinguish between the role of a prophet and that of a great statesman. Failure as a negotiator of peace, and Mr. Wilson's lost identity in a maze of diplomatic tangles does not lose for Mr. Franklin the high place Mr. Wilson holds in his estimation as an idealist, impractical though he might be. Mr.
Baker says, "He was fighting to do away with the old order and establish a new one. And the old order was tenacious and did not propose to be done away with."

Mr. Franklin says the real trouble was not that Mr. Wilson was trying to do away with the old order but that he expected to accomplish it. The mischief was in their being promised and then abandoned. Losing the mastery of the fourteen points he lost command of the whole situation. It was all based on an unattainable idealism. In which we feel none the less loyal to the idealist
but regretful that in the final settlement he was not more adaptable to situations which demanded
something acceptably practical. "He was shut up
in the ivory tower of his self-confidence," here
remarks Mr. Franklin.

Mr. Wilson was the dreamer of impossible dreams. That is exactly the point the Gazette has repeatedly attempted to make. That one dream saved from the wreck, was idealism raised to the nth power, the League of Nations so tenaciously
clung to by the zealots of 1918 and also of 1923.
Whatever failure of the League there has been
they claim is due to the failure of the United States to become a member. The trouble actually is that when the idealist insists that his ideal is workable in practical application, he is lost. He arrives at the destination of Mr. Wilson whose head was in the clouds, while the diplomats of the other nations were fishing things from his pocket.

Back of it all is the extremely impractical. So late as in February, 1917, Mr. Wilson was given to this same fatuous notion. Mr. Secretary Lane
in his letters says of a cabinet meeting:

Asked as to which side he wished to win, the President said that he didn't wish to see either side win—for both had been equally indifferent
to the rights of neutrals—though Germany had been brutal in taking life and England only in taking property.

Then we shall turn to Ambassador Page whose praises were sung a few days ago by a Wisconsin
newspaper which worships at the shrine of Wilson
idealism and the League of Nations. Mr. Page writing in April, 1917, says the president's first error of judgment was his refusing to understand
the meaning of the war.

The second error he made was in thinking that he could play a great part as peace-maker—come and give a blessing to these erring children. This was strong in his hopes and ambitions. There was a condescension in this attitude that was offensive.
He shut himself up with these two ideas and engaged in what he called "thought." The air currents of the world never ventilated his mind.

Our present day idealists are of the same piece.
"Come here, France, Turkey, Russia, Poland, Lithuania, our quarrelsome children, and we shall give you a blessing," is the sum of the league.
And then there are the semi-idealists who have the

RELICS OF BY-GONE DAYS

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington.—The success which the Earl of Carnarvon has met in digging up antiquities from
the Valley of the Kings at Luxor seems to have inspired some of the officials at Washington to look around among long buried objects to see
what interesting things can be brought to light.
No one expects war chariots and wig dumkies to
be discovered in so new a capital as Washington,
but nevertheless the epidemic of antiquarian research has produced at least two valuable finds.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Attorney General Daugherty both have discovered documents of absorbing historical interest.
The Treasury building is the oldest departmental government edifice at the national capital.
Most of it was erected in the administration of Andrew Jackson. The other day Secretary Mellon unearthed from long forgotten files of the treasury a book of letters written in the summer of 1833 to William J. Duane, then secretary of the treasury. The letters were nearly all inscribed by the hand of President Jackson himself. Some of them were written in the fine flowing Span-
corian hand which the competent amanuensis,
who in those days served in a position similar to
that now occupied by the typist and stenographer, employed. These, were signed by Jackson. A majority of the letters, however, were written by the old president himself in a rather cramped
hand showing the heavy strokes of the pen experts in chirography declare proclaim strength
and earnestness of character.

The letters include the ones which Jackson
wrote to Duane inviting him to become a member of the cabinet. Most of them relate to the famous controversy then raging over the Bank of the United States. This bank had a sort of monopoly of public business, although privately owned. Jackson objected to such an arrangement and it was a result of his fight against the bank that the independent treasury was established. The fight was on when these letters were written from Washington and some from Boston. It was assumed that the Boston letters were written while Jackson was in New England making speeches in reply to Daniel Webster who as a United States senator, was the principal public official who championed the cause of the Bank of the United States.

There are about 100 pages in this collection of Jackson letters. Obviously they were gathered together long ago—probably at the direction of their recipient, Duane—and bound in the leather covers of the book for preservation. They are in excellent condition, though yellowed by time. Some of the letters are lengthy, covering many pages.

Secretary Mellon has sent the collection to the library of congress for filing in the manuscript
division of that institution. It is expected that the writing will be carefully deciphered and the epistles printed as a public document. This is regarded as important because of the historical
interest in the Bank of the United States affair.
No letters President Jackson could have written
would be more interesting historically than letters
discussing this famous old controversy which to this day has had an influence on American banking policy and legislation. It is believed that these letters never have been made public and that in all probability their existence has been unknown. After their receipt, Duane doubtless had them filed and they since have remained in the dust of shelves which perhaps have not been inspected for nearly a century.

A few years ago a draft of an annual report to congress, written in his own hand by Albert Gallatin who was secretary of the treasury at the time of the War of 1812, was discovered.
Attorney General Daugherty's discovery has more variety and, to some, more interest than
Mr. Mellon's find. Mr. Daugherty unearthed
from old files in his office various lot of papers
dating back to George Washington's time. There were documents written by such famous attorneys
general as Edmund Randolph, appointed in 1789,
and the first man to hold the office; William Wirt,
John M. Berrien and Caleb Cushing.

The document of greatest human interest is what is now regarded as the last official letter of President Lincoln. It was written to Attorney General Speed on the day, the evening of which saw the assassination at Ford's theater. It appears that Lincoln frequently scrawled a few words to the attorney general across the backs of papers sent him for a comment and direction.
A fascinating letter found in this collection
was from the United States attorney for Ohio,
who wrote to the attorney general asking what
disposition was made of indictments for treason
pending in his court against Aaron Burr and Blennerhassett. The files reveal no answer to the inquiry. The United States attorney complained that the indictments had been pending for some time and he wanted to get them closed up but had received no instructions to bring the case to trial. It will be recalled that Burr and Blennerhassett conspired to set up an empire in the west which would be independent of the United States.

Another paper shows that Walt Whitman, the poet, was on the payroll of the attorney general's office as clerk about the time of the Civil war. He drew less than $1.00 a month in salary.
These documents will all be preserved with special care and added to the collection of other interesting historical papers in the possession of the government.

Among other interesting documents which have
in the past been found in government archives
are land patents issued to famous war heroes.
Such patents are found in the name of George Washington and other Revolutionary war heroes. A big batch of land patents was found dating from the Civil war. The government paid a soldier bonus after the Civil war in the form of land. Soldiers received grants of land on the public domain in the west. Not only the private soldiers but the generals of the line took advantage of the government's generosity. Not only Civil war soldiers
but soldiers of earlier wars were included and Abraham Lincoln got a land bonus for his services as a soldier in the Black Hawk Indian war.
The patent to Lincoln is at Washington in the custody of the interior department.

It is quite likely the fever for discovering antiquities will persist and that more interesting and
valuable documents will be discovered.

IM HUNGRY, MA.
He comes in twenty times a day
And gives me the same to say:
"Im hungry, Ma!"
He'll hurry to the pantry shelf
And take what he can find himself.
A piece of cake, a slice of bread,
An orange or an apple red.
Then he'll sit down and hurry back
To skimpish for another snack.
"Im hungry, Ma!"

"Im hungry, Ma!" 'Twas not an hour
Ago I saw the lad devour
A piece of pie!
He washed it down with milk and food,
And now he's begging to be fed.
The cookie jar is empty quite.
Was ever such an appetite?
Just vanishes the food we buy,
And still he has the nerve to cry:
"Im hungry, Ma!"

At ten years old, it seems to me,
This is a youngster's constant plea:
"Im hungry, Ma!"
We try to stay his appetite.
We heap his plate with food at night,
And feed him meat and early greens.
A double-plate of peas and beans,
And when it's time to go to bed
We'd think him ill unless he said:
"Im hungry, Ma!"

Oh, healthy lad of ten years old,
A richer health have you than gold—
"Im hungry, Ma!"
When you have grown as old as I
And lost your appetite for pie,
Perhaps you'll smile as now I do
Upon a little boy like you
Who rushes in and stands about
And greets his mother with the shout:
"Im hungry, Ma!"

A New York dentist goes to court with a charge of cruelty against his wife. He complains that his wife makes him sleep in the coal bin.
There are many angles to this case that appeal to the imagination. If not to the disabilities.
In the first place, probably there isn't any coal
in the bin. In the second place, any guy who will let his wife look him up in a coal bin deserves it. In the third place, the idea of any dentist going before an average jury and trying to arouse sympathy is a situation that has its lighter-
er phases.

If the complainant could but keep his profession secret while on the witness stand, a lot of married men on the jury might feel sorry for
him, but as soon as his lawyers puts the question
as to his business and he responds loudly:
"a dentist," you can see a certain look come over a jury. The members seem to sigh and settle back with a satisfied air. Let come what may, here is a chance to get drunk with all the dentists in the world, and every gentleman on
the jury in memory lives through his visit to various dental chambers of horrors.

And when they retire to the jury room they are
out a long time, not because the decision is hard to arrive at, but because every member has got
to have time to tell what dentists have done to him.

Of course a dentist is entitled to his day in court the same as anybody else, but it isn't apt to do him much good.

Who's Who Today

CYRUS E. WOODS.

Cyrus E. Woods of Pennsylvania, who has been ambassador to Spain since 1921, has been nominated by President Harding to be ambassador to Japan. Woods succeeded Charles E. Vane-ren who recently resigned.
This is his third diplomatic post. In 1912 he was appointed minister to Portugal
and served there until 1917. He was appointed by President Harding to the post in Spain in June 1921.

Woods was born in Clearfield, Pa., in 1857. He took his A. B. degree at Lafayette University in 1886. Three years later he was admitted to the Pennsylvania bar. He practiced in Philadelphia
from 1889-94 and in Pittsburgh for the next eighteen years. He began his political career in 1900 as a member of the Pennsylvania state senate. He served until 1908
and was president during the last three years of his term.

Then came his appointment to Portugal
and after he retired from that post in 1917 he was made secretary of state of Pennsylvania for the terms 1918-23. He resigned in 1921 to accept the ambassadorship to Spain.

Woods is married and his home is in Greensburg, Pa.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO

March 15, 1883.—Capt. H. A. Smith has decided to move to Rockford, where he will conduct a morocco factory. He has lived here for years,
has been in the shoe business and has been one of the most prominent men in connection with
the Janesville Guards since their organization.
Marshall North, Beloit, visited the county has-
telle today, bringing nine prisoners.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

March 15, 1893.—Republican caucuses will be held tonight and it is expected that large
crowds will attend as interest is high this year
and there is much timber. It is expected that Thoroughgood will be chosen as republican candidate for mayor. Pines are being smoked by a great deal, even on the streets, the English had
having hit Janesville as it has other cities.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

March 15, 1903.—Peter Tollenadel, J., has announced that he will build another factory at Arcure in the fall. The government will soon conduct an experiment on a farm near this city to see if commercial fertilizer is more successful than manure. Contracts have already been written for the production of between 800
and 900 acres of sugar beets this coming year.

TEN YEARS AGO

March 15, 1913.—By winning eleven straight games, the local basketball team has won the championship of southern Wisconsin and will go to Appleton, March 27, 28 and 29 to enter the state contest.—J. A. Strimble has purchased the property at 215 East Milwaukee street, where he now conducts a garage, from the Myers estate.

Personal Health Service

EFFERVESCENT SALTS

Earlier in our exploration and according to the medicine expounded we agreed that it was unnecessary to have any salts in the cupboard. If anybody wants a nip with extenuat-
ing circumstances he need no longer
resort to medicine for it. Doctors who have any kind of practice at all simply will not take out a permit any more.

There is no more room for mystery
in the medicine cupboard than there is for spirits. The entire line of effervescing salts—and it seems an endless line all wrapped around with the most appealing kind of hokum—is sufficiently represented by a little tin box of seidlitz powders. The tin
box keeps them dry.

A seidlitz powder consists of two parts. In the blue paper a moderate lavative dose of Rochelle salts and saccharine; in the white paper some tartaric acid. The powder from the blue paper is dissolved in about an inch of water in one glass; the powder from the white paper in another glass.
When the powders are all dissolved
the subject of the experiment tenses
up, seizes one glass, pours its contents into the other glass, and, and
and the mixture while it is foaming and fizzing furiously. Such portion as does not go up his nose or over his chest settles any little disturbance or uprising in the stomach
and the experimenter returns to bed
to await the summons.

This is by no means a horrid way
to take a dose of salts. Even children like to take it this way. If the seidlitz powder be divided into quarters, and successive drinks of bubble
water or soda water be given until
the required dose is taken, a child
about the same dose of salts
as an adult does.

The virtue of seidlitz powders is that they may be kept in the medicine cupboard ready for use. But for squamous folks who don't like medicine at all, like myself, I mean the taste of medicine, the finest thing

Q. How the project to have a

is making good progress. The Federation of Women's Clubs are cooperating with other organizations in this undertaking. The site is to be selected, the funds raised and work

Q. How far is it from Colorado

A. The distance is 20 miles.

Q. Which is the largest county in the United States? N. county, California, has the greatest land area,
containing 26,175 square miles.

Q. Why does a chicken sway its head backward and forward when walking? D. H. S.

A. When a chicken walks, the equilibrium of its body must be maintained. With the first step, the center of gravity of a chicken's body
on which the equilibrium depends
changes, due to the forward motion,
and it is to restore the equilibrium
and keep the chicken from falling
that it moves its head backward and
forward, thus shifting the weight.

Q. What is the origin of the Dresden Anekt W. H. A.

A. The word "Anekt" is based upon the Greek word "anektos" which means "enduring" or "lasting".

Q. Can a few words be removed from a photograph record? H. J.

A. A manufacturer of records says that he knows of no way by which
a word or group of words can be removed from a photograph record
without seriously injuring the record. By the very nature of a record of the lateral cut type, the music or recording is actually carved into the side walls of the groove and removal
of any part of the groove means the total destruction of the groove and
an unpleasant grating noise will result.

Q. How is the fur of the seal
dyed? E. A.

A. After being dressed it is dyed
as follows: The coloring matter is applied with a brush to the fur
and distributed by shaking the
fur. It is then dried and brushed.
The process of dyeing, drying and brushing is often repeated as many
as 15 times.

Q. How are moss-eggs formed?

A. The gate is a variety of quartz composed of successive layers of
silica deposited from a siliceous
water solution. Slight
amounts of impurities in the silica
solution produce different colors in

LONDON SHOPS FULL OF FAKED ANTIQUES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London.—The methods by which thousands of persons are cheated annually through the sale by dealers of antique furniture, drapery and porcelain which are "faked," was shown recently when an antique
dealer was brought into court
charged with fraud. During the trial
it was declared that dealers sell
thousands of pounds worth of antiques every year to American tourists visiting England, and that probably less than 5 per cent of the purchases are real.

Jumping at Conclusions

Should something go wrong with the carburetor of your auto, would you immediately blame the gasoline? Of course not. Yet many persons, when they experience trouble with a gas light or gas appliance,
at once jump to the conclusion that the gas is at fault.
Before blaming the gas, we ask that you notify us to make an inspection. No doubt a little cleaning and adjusting—for which there is no charge—will promptly
correct the trouble.

INVESTIGATE, THEN DECIDE

We are confident that if you will carefully
look into the merits of the storage type gas
water heater you will conclude that it is the ideal means of supplying hot water service for the home. You can operate one of these heaters at no more and with probably less
expense than you would pay to operate a coal
stove in the cellar.

This service is automatic. It requires no attention. Plenty of clean hot water day or night at the turn of a faucet. You owe it to your family and yourself to come to our showroom and let us demonstrate this wonderful water heating service.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS

Handsome, intelligent, and so painfully shy that when she meets new people she can think of nothing to say to them, and after a while she begins to feel that her life is a waste. She lives with her mother and her father, who is a poor relation with her Aunt Maude, her uncle and their very popular daughter, Gladys—all of whom tell her frequently that she is hopelessly stupid and queer. She has only one friend, Morton, who is like herself, whom she loves devotedly. When Gladys, who has everything, suddenly marries Morton, Pan finds herself heartbroken.

WORD FROM GLORIA

Chapter 96
"But Gloria will be back!" Pan said. Frankie presented no problem to her.

"No, for weeks—I saw them in Paris, before I came over."

"Oh, tell me you never said a word," she reproached him. "Were they happy? Was Gloria happy? Do you like Stanley now he's back?"

"I've always liked him. I used to know him very well, in the old days," George said. "I always knew he was a good fellow, that my home was America, so I could keep an eye on her. He was ready to quit over here and go back, but she wouldn't have it."

"I was her guardian, in his eyes. When you used to see me annoyed with her it was because of the senseless way she wasted her time on no-account people and her strength and nerve force on foolish parties. When she would get keyed up and neurotic."

"You would glare at her, I've seen you," interrupted Pan.

"I was glad of you for a time, because I saw that would be a quiet force with Gloria, sort of a sedative to her down when you were"

together. Later I was glad that Gloria could be of use to you when I began to fall in love with you."

"When was that?" asked the girl, deserting one topic for another more fascinating.

"I don't know—sometimes I think from the time I first saw you huddled behind a gorgeous sofa cushion, because you were ashamed of your shabby frock; sometimes I think only from the night you brought me a hot supper and insisted on my eating it."

Pan laughed, then demanded: "Now, go on about Gloria."

"Gloria! Oh yes—well, one night while I was at work I had a phone call from Stanley, asking me to dine with them. We spent the whole evening talking—and most of the night, there was just a faint light. I should say she was!"

"Yes, staidier that is, not so apt to fly off the handle as she used to be."

"I can't imagine Gloria really quiet," Pan said thoughtfully.

"I didn't say she was quiet—there was plenty of vivacity, but not the sort of vivacity that would get her into the forced kind. Wait and you'll see. They were going to the south and Italy. I told them they'd melt, but they didn't seem to mind. Gloria says that she was unhappy before, just to see what they're really like, now she can see them as they are."

"Laying ghosts," Pan said, thinking of some of the long talks between George and her friend.

"Laying ghosts! But it will take another month at least, there are many of them to get rid of. That's why I said Frankie was a problem."

"But—we won't be married before she—before they come back?"

"I know."

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON.
Letters May Be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Is it proper for a girl to go with her young man friend to his home to spend the afternoon or evening with him and his people?

ANNIE.

Strictly speaking it is not correct for a girl to go to the home of a young man unless she is properly chaperoned. In this day of freedom for women, however, conventions are often disregarded and a girl uses her own judgment about such a matter.

If you are sure that you will be welcomed by the young man's parents, I would advise you to go. The mother of a young man who often goes out of a room full of pleasure because his sons go calling and do not entertain in their own homes.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I wish to give a party for my son on his sixteenth birthday. The crowd he goes with are in the habit of dancing at most of the different homes, but as I do not approve of dancing and he does not care for it, can you tell me how I can plan an evening's amusement and make it so interesting that they will not mind not dancing?

CAREFUL MOTHER.

There are books on the subject of entertaining. If you go to a book store or library you will find many helpful suggestions. To plan an evening's entertainment would cost too much time and space for me to undertake it. Besides you will find games that appeal to you, while I would select games which would appeal to me but would not interest you in the least. In case you can think of nothing else, however, have an infant's nap, requesting the girls to dress as little girls and the boys to dress as little boys. Serve popcorn balls and all day suckers during the evening and play children's games such as hide the thumbtack, patty in the corner and the other things which amuse grown-ups as well as children.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you advise me how to become more popular with boys? I am 17 years old and I have dates every week, but I never go with the same boy more than once. Why is this? I try to be nice.

NANCY BLACK.

It is difficult for me to solve your problem since I know so little about you. Some girls are merely pretty and they do not keep boy friends because they haven't enough that is interesting about them to live up to the pretty face. Other girls let boys become too familiar and they lose their respect. It does not pay to let boys make love or talk in an intimate way about your person. Then sometimes a girl is merely silly and giggles too much. Perhaps you will find yourself in the list mentioned and will correct your fault.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 22 years old and am in love with a man 49 years old. He says he loves me and he would do anything for me. My parents object to him. Don't you think I am old enough to choose my own husband?

SILVIA LILL.

You are old enough to choose your own husband, but your parents should object to a man so much older. The odds are against a happy marriage because of the disparity in your ages and therefore I would advise you to consider the matter carefully before you take such a step.

THOSE SWEET LASHES

I doubt whether any woman is quite satisfied with her eyelashes. Each one would like to possess a little longer, a little thicker, perhaps a little earlier than those she already has. The result is that many first-class beauties vaseline mixed with some impressive sounding or impressive smelling drug have made fortunes.

Vaseline I consider of little use. It is a mineral product and is not nourishing. But the following mixture I know to be excellent.

Everything in this formula helps to grow thick and curling eyelashes which will not rub away into the lashes until it has worn itself out.

A. I. S.—There is no particular age when a girl should begin to use powder. It should never be used at all unless it is actually needed and then most sparingly, surely never so it shows on the skin. Drink more water and be careful of your diet for a time, and your skin will not be so oily, but when it is removed it with a small piece of charcoal which will leave your skin looking much better than a coat of powder.

Brown Eyes—A girl 16 years who is inclined to skin eruptions should not resort to any cosmetics to improve her complexion. There are physical reasons for this trouble which will probably correct themselves provided the girl lives according to the requirements of health.

Curly Hair—When you receive a gift directly from the donor, by all means open the package and do your thinking in the same informal way as the giver has done by delivering the package to you in person.

Friday—Well Protected Hands.

NATIONAL MUSIC WEEK

The observance of music week, by scores of cities in different parts of the country during the past few years, will probably result in the setting aside of a specified period for the observance of a national music week. In a recent survey conducted by the National Bureau for the Advancement of Music, it is favored above other months by a majority of the cities that have had music week observances thus far. April and June tied for second place. The first national music week will probably be proclaimed for observance in 1924, but the spring months of the present year will be the occasion for many local observances. Any community, large or small, can have a music week at small expense. The Community editor will furnish suggestions for such an observance for any community in southern Wisconsin.

CHURCHES AND RECREATION

The responsibility resting upon the church to provide social and recreational activities for those who come within the circle of its influence is now recognized quite generally. One of the reasons why the First Lutheran church of Janesville has been so successful in holding its young people in a church that was originally Norwegian, and still holds some services in this tongue for the benefit of the older members, was revealed when the recent anniversary banquet of the young people's society was held. This society is a social organization which has promoted recreational activities for young people for 20 years. It is a separate and distinct from the Lutheran League, which is a religious organization of young people. All the young people of the church and their friends are free to attend affairs held under the auspices of the young people's society, and the contact it affords with religious activities for young people is the more effective because it is indirect.

The plan is in line with one which is now being followed in churches of many denominations that are organizing young people's departments for the correlation of the activities of all the different groups, such as Sunday school classes, young people's Sunday evening societies, etc.

The following resolution was adopted by the Federal Council of Churches at its annual meeting in December:

"That in view of the country-wide unrest, the increasingly apparent unwholesome effects of our machine age upon the life and spirit of industrial workers, the strain of our modern civilization and the perils of youth arising out of the pressure of commercialized amusements, it is recommended that increasing attention be given by all of our churches and local federations to the subject of recreation and the application of its deeper principles of education, citizenship development, creative self-expression, building and community enrichment."

"Trutona's Positively Worked Wonders in My Case," E. M. Johnson Declares.

Scores and scores of factory men and women have found Trutona, the famous tonic, an invaluable aid to them in successfully and easily performing their daily duties, among these being E. M. Johnson, 271 South Jackson street, an employee of the Samson Tractor Company, who says:

"My system had been rundown for several months. I felt so tired and worn out all the time and seemed to have no energy about me at all. My appetite had all but failed me and I didn't seem to relish anything I ate. I was so restless and nervous I couldn't sleep at night. And because of my poor general condition, I had lost considerable weight.

"Somebody told me about Trutona, and I began using it and I'll tell you, in my opinion, this medicine's certainly worthy of the highest praise. It's simply worked wonders in my case. Actually, I'm feeling as fine as I ever did in my life and I give Trutona full credit for the fact. The former tired, sluggish feeling has left me and I've gotten my old pep and energy back again. My appetite has been restored and everything I eat tastes so good to me now. I notice too that I'm gradually gaining weight."

BLAINE ASSAILS ATTORNEY GENERAL

Daughterly Played for Declining to Make Survey of War Vets in Prisons.

(By Associated Press.)
Madison—Governor J. J. Blaine Tuesday night scored Harry M. Daugherty, United States attorney general, for his refusal to make a survey of former service men incarcerated in federal prisons, to determine their mental and physical condition, as suggested by the Wisconsin executive.

In a letter to the cabinet officer, Governor Blaine said "You decline to make the survey on the ground that the work is outside of your jurisdiction in federal penitentiaries, would require more time and assistance than is at command of the department and for this reason regret that it is impracticable."

"This is most astounding. I am unwilling to believe," he added, "that you are willing to post your refusal upon such ground when I call to your attention that in all probability you have men who served in the late war suffering from mental and physical disability due to their service for their country, and because of that mental condition they have come to this sad plight."

"I am sending a summary of facts found in Wisconsin penal institutions, which shows that a large number of these men are mentally and physically deficient, requiring hospitalization instead of prison bars."

"You state that I regret to state it is impracticable. You can have no such regret in any such grounds. When the troops were on the tide, these men were heroes. When gas and bombing and shell-shocking have broken them mentally and physically, then you say they may not be heroes any more because it is impracticable for you to bring relief. I trust that the dictates of humanity will command your attention and action."

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen, of Rochester, N. Y., suffers with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.
He finally decided, after years of countless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.
With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.
He freely gave his discovery, which he called Alleurin, to others who took it, with what might be called marvellous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed druggists everywhere to dispense Alleurin with the understanding that if the first pint bottle does not show the way to complete recovery he will gladly return your money without comment.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.
People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects. All the benefits of many sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.
Dr. P. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath and bad odor.
Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.

WALWORTH COUNTY

ELKHORN

County Seat News.
MRS. GRANT HARRINGTON,
Teleph. 111-15.

Elkhorn.—Word comes from Vallejo, Calif., that a boy was born to Ensign and Mrs. George Lyon last Saturday. Mr. Lyon is a son of Judge J. P. Lyon, Elkhorn.

J. A. Robinson is a suburbanite. He is custodian of the State Bank building and travels to and from Darien daily. He was on the job as usual Monday morning in spite of the storm and holds the record of never having missed a day during the years that he has held the position. The condenser received about half the usual amount of calls on Monday but by Tuesday the aggregate was normal. Trucks were abandoned and in their stead two or more farmers would join and bring the milk with sled teams and leave the sleds and go over their routes on Monday but traveled the main roads on Tuesday.

It is currently reported that the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad application to discontinue the branch line from Elkhorn to Eagle. Some years ago when ice houses were located along the line, the line was paying proposition. If the line is discontinued it will be a particularly hard blow to the village of Troy center.

Mrs. Bayard Lyon and three children did not return from the city and arrive in San Francisco May 21. Mr. Lyon, who is now on his way to America, expects to meet his family on their arrival in San Francisco.

Frank Richards, 85, died at the county farm on Monday morning and came originally from Topping's Corners. The senior boys band will give its initial concert under the direction of H. W. Burch at the high school auditorium, Monday night, March 23. Have you guessed a title?

Sweaters

Colorful sweaters in unusual designs lend their charm to your playtime hours. They are in slipover and jacquette styles and many make of the finest of the new Oriental designs and colors.

Blouses

Prints and plain colors share the honors in the smart Spring blouses. Prints come in most fascinating Egyptian designs while plain materials are braided or double slitch trimmed in jacquette or overblouse styles.

Capes

Quaintly charming are the capes and wraps for the "teen" age. They adopt the fabrics, styles and colors of the capes and wraps for the grown-up, yet are delightfully youthful in line and color.

Children

Delicate little garments are here to enhance the wee one's charms. There are dainty little frocks of voile and organdy with cunning trimmings of lace, ribbon or hand smocking.

JEFFERSON COUNTY

JEFFERSON

Jefferson.—More than 300 pupils of the seventh and eighth grades in the rural schools of Jefferson county soon will take their first examinations for diplomas which will be granted in June.

Frederick Bullwinkel, assistant cashier of the Farmers & Merchants bank, addressed the assembly of the high school Wednesday afternoon. In his talk he outlined the subject of "Credit."

The March committee of the Eastern Star entertained about 100 members at a 5 o'clock dinner Tuesday night at the lodge rooms.

Plan Recreation
for H. S. Girls

During Noon Hour

The Girl Reserve committee of the Y. W. C. A. has arranged to direct some noon recreation activities at the high school to be participated in by the pupils who do not go home for lunch. Games and gym work will be featured and a Girl Reserve room is to be fitted up for those who prefer to read or play quiet games. About 400 boys and girls either bring their lunches or eat at nearby restaurants and grocery stores. The greater part of the 70-minute noon period is therefore available for the activities to be promoted by the Y. W. C. A. at the request of the school authorities.

The Y. W. C. A. will have charge of the program at the Junior high assembly, March 23. Fifteen were present at the Girl Reserve public class which met for supper Wednesday night at the Y. W. Senior High Girl Reserves met Thursday after school to prepare the stunt they are to present at the high school St. Patrick's party, Friday night.

The Ho Square, Jackery class meets Thursday night at the Y. W. rooms.

Junior high Girl Reserves met at the Y. W. C. A. Wednesday at 4:15 and made plans to hold a "Spring opening," next Wednesday.

The snow, Lenten services in a number of churches and the fact that many of the older girls attended the Tuesday night supper interfered with the attendance of the St. Patrick's party, Wednesday night. Those present had a good time playing games and consuming an abundance of refreshments.

SPRING

Glorifies the Entire Store

The formal opening of the Spring Season is accompanied by a most elaborate display of the new suits, coats, wraps, frocks, hats, shoes, and many accessories of dress, in the Fashion promenade. What the well dressed man, woman, and child will wear will be exhibited at The Golden Eagle, Levy's.

Millinery

A varied multitude of new millinery modes challenges attention here. There are models for every occasion and every type, in a most fascinating array of spring shades.

Gloves

Dame Fashion has pronounced the gauntlet as her favored glove for Spring, and in addition, has stated that they must be of sheer back and cuff. They may be had in all the smart new shades for Spring.

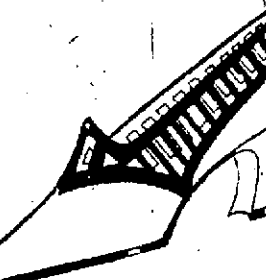

"Undies"

Silk things are so beautifully soft and luxurious, no wonder more and more women are choosing them. They are beautifully made from medium silk, crepe de chine and satin in tailored and trimmed styles.

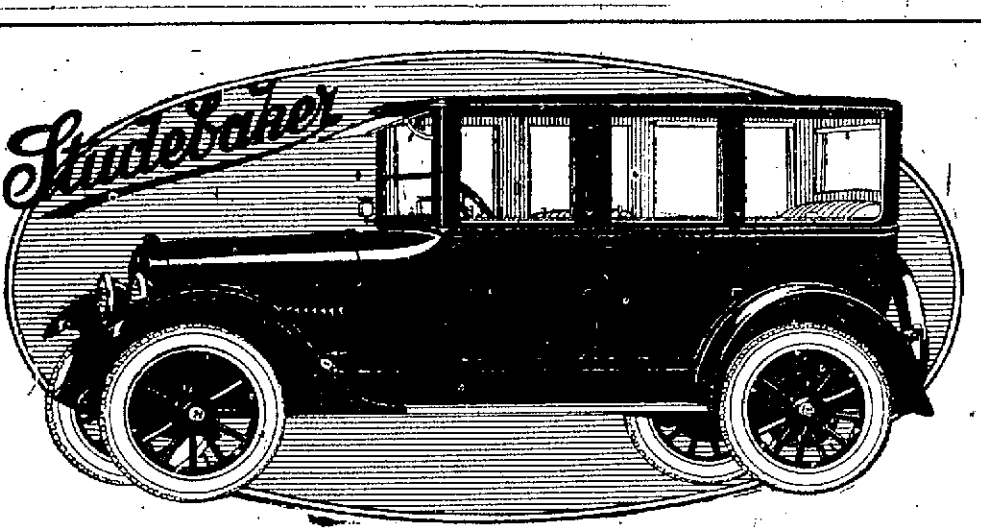

Hosiery

Hosiery is strikingly smart and different this Spring. It is known by its radiantly lovely Mexican draw-work and it is beautifully sheer. Some favor the dainty French lace stockings, with their charming patterns.

Footwear

Smart footwear that will lead you in paths of fashion is here shown in all its delightful styles. Panels and cut out effects are most prominent in oxfords and pumps, with gray as the leading color.

23 SERIES STUDEBAKER LIGHT-SIX SEDAN $1350

Hidden qualities largely determine the value and life of a closed car.

Beauty of line and finish and refinements are surface indications and important ones. But your satisfaction with a closed car depends to a great degree upon factors that are unseen—the in-built qualities that come from correct design, use of highest grade materials and careful workmanship.

The 23 Series Studebaker Light-Six Sedan is a quality car. It is built to endure—to give lasting satisfaction.

The Sedan body is substantially made. It will last for years and retain its beauty and comfort. Evidence of its hidden goodness lies in the fact that down under the paint and varnish, the pillars, roof rails and supporting members are made from specially selected ash. Good ash is expensive but Studebaker uses it because it best combines the proper strength and weight.

Four wide-opening doors make it easy for all passengers to get in or out without inconvenience to each other. A high-grade heater affords summer warmth on cold, damp days. The wide windows give broad vision in every direction.

COMMITTEE LIKES TAX ON GASOLINE

Abandons Blaine Plan for Weight and Power
Assessment.

Madison—After nine weeks of the present session of the legislature, the joint highway committee expects that it will be able to report a financing program for road building to the houses, according to George Nelson, chairman of the assembly committee. Two bills are lying in committee, waiting to be sent to the floor of the legislature. One of these provides a drastically graduated license fee based upon weight, the other provides a two-cent a gallon tax on gasoline. Applied together as the committee intends they would produce over $11,000,000 annually.

Weight Tax Doubtful
While the joint highway committee has acted favorably on both proposals and had the definite bills drawn, it is still doubtful whether they will be presented to the legislature in their present form. Some leaders in the legislature are definitely of the opinion that the weight tax as proposed by the committee, will be unable to weather opposition in the houses. There is a move on foot now, outside of the committee to continue the existing $10 license fee in effect and then levy a gasoline tax of two cents a gallon in addition. This combined license fee and tax would produce approximately $8,000,000 annually from automobiles and would give the revenue needed to maintain 10,000 miles of state trunk highway.

Gas Tax Favored
Another plan under consideration is to provide a very much moderated license fee based upon weight, with a gasoline tax in addition. Both of these latter proposals are being seriously considered, and are said to be more likely of passage than the committee plan. The gasoline tax, which was dismissed as out of the question by legislators at the first of the session, now seems to the proposal most generally accepted. The tax based on combined weight and license power, as proposed by Governor Blaine, has been abandoned and how the committee effort is directed toward the drafting of a graduated license fee based upon weight. It now has a measure that will in itself raise $8,000,000 annually.

The plans being sponsored by those outside of the committee call for a total of $8,000,000 to include either a flat license fee and a gasoline tax or a moderate graduated license fee based upon weight and a gasoline tax.

Staudenmayer Objecting
Senator George Staudenmayer, chairman of the senate highway committee, is again objecting to the suggestion that confers his committee. He probably will refuse to attend the joint meeting scheduled Wednesday night for his committee and the assembly committee. Failure of the upper house to give him a membership that can attend meetings is given by Senator Staudenmayer as his reason for demanding a change before again taking his place on the committee.

and make it the issue of his campaign, formulating a program that can be debated on the stump. The political strategy of the occasion would naturally be to revise the revenue laws and stand on a record of achievement, rather than of promise, especially because the republican administration will be on the defensive anyway. And if a new tax program can be put through in the session beginning in December, 1923, and adjourns sometime in 1924, making the changes effective with the calendar year 1925, the voters will have something concrete to boast about. Men of the political sagacity of Attorney General Baugherty, who is President Harding's right-hand man, when it comes to mulling out campaign, believe the issue in 1924 will be taxes, irrespective of what has been done by that date to change the existing laws.

Tax Subject Coming
The significant fact is that the presidential plans contemplate some expression on the subject of taxes. Secretary Mellon of the treasury department, has been waging a campaign for the adoption of a constitutional amendment abolishing the tax-exempt security. President Harding endorsed the proposal in his address to congress on December, 1921, and there is little doubt that the amendment will be actively before the state legislatures while the 1924 campaign is in progress. It is an issue on which radicals and conservatives alike seem to have combined in congress. The radicals don't like the idea of seeing wealthy folks escape taxation by investing in state and municipal securities and the conservatives feel that not only is the government losing money which it is justly entitled but that, as Mr. Harding himself expressed it, the "drift of wealth into non-taxable securities is hindering the flow of large capital to our industries, manufacturing, agricultural and carrying, until we are discouraging the very activities which make our wealth."

Struggle for Amendment
If, by the time the election of 1924 is at hand, the proposed amendment to the federal constitution has not been ratified, Mr. Harding will be found vigorously campaigning for it as one of the elements in his program of reduced taxation because, if the federal government can tax the income of the many billions of dollars invested in securities which at present are free from federal taxation, the treasury department will feel warranted in recommending a considerable reduction in the tax rate.

There is always, of course, the prospect of an entirely new system of taxation, namely, a tax, Mr. Harding was friendly to the idea during his front porch councils at Marion but some of his advisers insisted that it was an uneconomic tax and he did not fully approve it during the campaign. Since that time, however, the president has looked with more favor on the plan and he himself made the proposal that the soldiers' bonus be paid out of a sales tax.

Bonus Issue Again
The present administration must again face the soldier bonus problem, especially with 1924 coming on. If the entire tax program were to be revised, it would be easier for the administration to include the soldier bonus in its plans and thus gain an important element of support than to argue for the sales tax as a substitute for the present tax scheme without making any provision for an adjusted compensation act for the soldiers and sailors.

The present law will, of course, remain unchanged for the year 1923 and probably for all of 1924. Though congress could, if it chose, make a new law affecting the incomes earned in the year 1924, which are payable during 1925, the matter seems the more likely to appeal to the powers that be as a campaign measure.
